

Recruiting Teaching Faculty in Global Health

Apply Now

The Department of Global Health at the University of Washington, which bridges the Schools of Medicine and Public Health, is recruiting new faculty members for the following position:

- Two Assistant Teaching Professor positions in Global Health

We are seeking highly motivated, impact-driven, creative, and collaborative individuals to join our faculty. The Department of Global Health values and honors excellence in teaching, mentoring, and service in order to achieve our mission:

To improve health for all through research, education, training, and service; to understand and address the causes of disease and health inequities at multiple levels; and to collaborate with partners to develop and sustain locally-led, quality health systems, programs and policies.

We are particularly interested in continuing to expand faculty expertise, skills, and experience in the following areas:

- Provide innovative and effective instruction for undergraduate and graduate students in foundational global health and public health courses
- Support DGH mission and SPH and SOM teaching priorities of advancing health equity
- Increase DGH instructional capacity and curriculum quality.
- Provide mentorship
- Contribute to the department's mission, community, and culture

Priority deadline: December 13, 2022

Our commitment to diversity, health equity and inclusion

We are committed to a future that is free of health inequities, that promotes the highest level of wellness for the communities we serve, and a diverse and inclusive public health workforce that embodies humility, respect, leadership and service on behalf of, and with, the diverse communities we are privileged to serve.